

Radost Folk Ensemble

What does it cost to join Radost?

Radost is a performing folk ensemble rather than a dance school. However, we know that valuable learning takes place that is not easily available. What are our costs? Our guest choreographers are paid, we rent our studio space, and we rent storage space for our priceless costume collection, along with many other expenses. We do not charge tuition, and yet we depend on the financial support of our members. Radost is a non-profit organization, so your donation is tax deductible and can be matched by many employers.

Please consider the value of what you or your child receives through membership in Radost, and what you might pay for dance shoes, tuition, costumes and performance fees at any other organization.

If a contribution is difficult for you at this time, don't worry. We also value your contributions of time and talent. Can you sew? Can you help organize costumes? Can you help with our website or Facebook page? Could you help market our school assembly program to local PTAs? We will also be holding a benefit party later in the season, and could use your help. Many hands make light work.

Dunava CD, Radost DVD & CD

This summer, Radost's affiliated women's choir, Dunava, released their second CD. Let us know if you would like a copy – they also make great gifts.

We also have the professionally produced DVD from our 30th Anniversary concert, and the 2001 Radost CD, "Heirloom".
